

Mindfire Solutions releases DNN module named “MfStockChart”.

21st Dec, 2011, Bhubaneswar: Mindfire Solutions from its early days has been innovating and working hard to help people in software industry. Mindfire has again delivered a DNN module recently called “MfStockChart” for DNN users in the industry. This module helps to keep an eye on the turbulent world of stock market on your DNN portal.

MfStockChart in DNN is an effective module for end users whether he is a portal visitor or a portal manager. Its variety of features provides a better way of viewing and analyzing stock options. A user can enter symbol of the company, and on clicking every little detail related to the stock of the company will be displayed (20 minutes delay from live market). The stock table displayed will encompass the fields like company name, symbol, last trade date, last trade time, last trade price, price change, bid, ask, volume, day high price and day low price. The module allows users to search for multiple companies stock by simply entering symbols in search box. Search box also allows auto suggestion feature. Data updates automatically in the stock table if the market is open. Stock table holds record of company’s stock in graphical format of major indices across US, Europe, Asia that displays stock data of a company with a max time range spread over 5 years. This module provides the privilege to users to maintain portfolio of his/her choice of 5 companies and visibility of different parts of modules can only be set by the admin of the portal. This module is compatible with DNN version 6.0.1 and above.

“Mindfire has always been in the hunt to develop different modules to cater to the software industry users. The previously developed modules in DNN (mfsVideoModule, mfsSliding, mfsPolling etc.) have helped users of the DNN community a lot and has given us the inspiration to develop more and more modules to serve DNN community users” stated Mr. Debendra Nandi, Area Business Lead, DNN, Mindfire Solutions. The module developer Chandan Kumar said that, this module would definitely be an asset for users who genuinely take interest in keeping them updated about the financial market. He also added that he would work hard to contribute more of such modules to the DNN community.
